

Dear Friends,

Our association has come a long way in a short period of time. Whether from our legislative victories, growth in membership or overall association recognition, we should be proud that CALSAGA is as vibrant as ever. Without question, we are a major player in Sacramento and considered a leader in the security industry. Despite our success, there is much more work to be done.

This year's annual conference, entitled "Crossing the Bridge to a New Security Profession," will build upon our aforementioned success and focus on the next steps needed to take control of the future of our industry and association.

One of the key components germane to this year's theme is the large-scale marketing campaign that CALSAGA is launching in 2008. The purpose of the campaign is to educate elected officials, consumers and the public on the positive impact the security industry has in California.

Similarly, we have devoted a significant portion of the conference to discuss legislative and regulatory affairs pertinent to our members. We understand that navigating through California's regulatory environment is tricky at best, so we have invited speakers who will address the most critical issues facing our industry.

As always, attendees will have access to a wide-range of vendors who supply superior services and products that can help your company operate more efficiently. We have also scheduled some very exciting events surrounding this year's conference, including our first-ever CALSAGA Annual Conference Golf Tournament, a tour of the Capitol and our annual Security Officer Memorial Fund cocktail reception.

Please take a look inside this brochure for more conference specifics. I hope to see you there in what I anticipate will be the most successful annual conference to date!

Sincerely,

Mark Miller
