"Changes in Proprietary Security and Hazards of Co-Employment"

On Wednesday, March 9, CALSAGA is proud to host a critical education seminar at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim that both proprietary and contract security will want to attend. First, BSIS Chief Jeffrey Mason will discuss changes in proprietary security and the Bureau's efforts to start enforcing the new proprietary training law and registration of proprietary security employers. Then CALSAGA Legal Advisor Barry Bradley will brief attendees on the hazards of co-employment, an issue that creates legal exposure when a contract employee is so closely supervised by the client that they could legally be considered an employee of the client and contractor. CALSAGA is excited to be launching our new proprietary training curriculum at the seminar as well. This is a "must attend" for all Proprietary Security Employers and Private Patrol Operators!!
